WAYNE W. SELL UPDATES FLEET

Twenty Brand New 2018 Tractors Purchased in 2017

PITTSBURGH, PA – October 18, 2017 – Wayne W. Sell Corporation (Wayne W. Sell), a leader in the transportation of flat, van and bulk commodities across the Midwest and North East, today announced the company's notable 2017 equipment purchases. These purchases updated its equipment, and reduced the average age of its fleet.

Throughout the year, Wayne W. Sell purchased twenty brand new 2018 tractors. Ten of the new tractors were 2018 Macks, and the other ten were 2018 Peterbilts. Wayne W. Sell has been thrilled about the arrival of each new tractor and having the opportunity to assign each to a deserving driver.

President John Sell explains, "It is exciting for everyone in the organization when we get new equipment, but it is especially exciting for the driver who is assigned a brand new truck. We are proud to continue to update our fleet, and keep our drivers in new equipment."

About Wayne W. Sell Corporation

Founded in 1954 by the late Wayne W. Sell and his wife Jane, the company has grown from a single tractor and trailer to a full-service transportation operation. Its modern fleet of vans, flat beds and bulk tanks transport cement, construction products and industrial materials including sand, coke, fly ash for customers throughout the Mid West and North East.

The company's tagline, "Service is Our Business", reflects its continued commitment to delivering reliable and cost-effective transportation solutions to its customers, on-time. In 2011, Wayne W. Sell more than doubled sales revenue from the previous year. To keep pace with its significant growth, the company is hiring qualified drivers. For more information, visit www.wswellcorp.com.
